Petitions, Problems and Solutions Presented at SV Transit Meeting

Milk to Make a President

Milk producers testified earlier this month that it cost 1.7 mills a quart to convince the public that "every body needs milk" via a nation-wide advertising program.

No one has established, so far, what it costs a quart to re-elect a president.

Milk drinkers are paying a lot more for re-electing a president than they are for advertising — the latter is said by economists to have "no effect on the price."

Milk users are now paying 72.75 cents a half-gallon locally. Not long ago it was about 50 cents. Consumers are now being prepared to pay an eventual $1 a half gallon. And if milk people follow the pattern set by gasoline moguls they'll do a lot of conniving to get it.

Milk arguments to the contrary will not stand up since the price got up to 72 cents by contrivance.

Item: Richard L. Allison, 42, until recently the president of Lehigh Valley Cooperative Farmers admitted guilt in making an illegal contribution of $50,000 to Mr. Nixon's campaign in 1972. He made it in behalf of the 970-member Allentown, Penn.-based organization. Allison was fined $1,000; the Co-op, $5,000. Allison said he thought the payment was an honorarium for a 1972 speech by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz. What an alibi!

That $50,000 could have been more properly used to reduce the retail price of milk for Pennsylvania workers.

Item: Dwight Morris, former secretary of the 40,000-member Associated Milk Producers, Inc., testified recently that AMPI offered $300,000 to President Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, in an attempt to halt an anti-trust suit.

His testimony was filed in Kansas City where the anti-trust suit is being held, and in Washington to the federal Watergate grand jury. He said that the Co-op's president, John E. Butterbrodt, had told him about a meeting on the West Coast with Kalmbach in which it was agreed that the anti-trust suit against AMPI would "die a natural death" after the $300,000 was contributed. AMPI is the nation's largest milk co-op.

But the contribution was rejected by Kalmbach after controversy erupted over the Justice Department's settlement of the International Telephone and Telegraph anti-trust suit.

AMPI never gave a thought to cutting milk prices by $300,000! As a matter of record, AMPI was one of three milk co-ops that gave $437,000 in 1971 for Mr. Nixon's re-election.

Item: A.P. on March 24, 1971 reported an alleged midnight meeting between Kalmbach and a top dairy cooperative official. He is believed to have promised that milk prices would be increased the next day but he (Kalmbach) first wanted confirmation of a $2 million campaign pledge.

On March 25, 1971, support price for milk was increased to 85% of parity, adding $500-$700 millions to dairy farmers' income payments.

Item: Two days prior to that William A. Powell, president of the Mid-American Dairyman, Inc., and 9 other co-op leaders met with President Nixon. Powell reported to his membership "we must have friends in government. Whether we like it or not, that's the way the system works."

Item: In a separate action, the late Murray M. Chotiner, long-time confidant of President Nixon's interceded in behalf of the milk industry. He quit his White House job three weeks earlier to take a $57,000 retainer from Harold S. Nelson, chief executive officer of AMPI. Chotiner is reported to have told Nelson that White House domestic advisor John D. Ehrlichman expected milk producers to confirm their $2 million "commitment" in light of the forthcoming milk price hike.

Item: Bob Moretti, Assembly Speaker, last week took a dim view of the California milk situation. "A half-gallon of milk will cost a dollar by 1976 if milk prices increase at the same rate of the past 15 months."

Increased producer costs do not fully explain the reasons why consumers will pay the new high minimum. Moretti also charges that larger retailers are given a larger discount than the smaller ones. 1,054 school districts in California, serving nearly 1,300,000 lunches a day and who purchase enormous quantities of milk, complain that they are not receiving the type of discounts on milk which the larger retailers receive.

Item: A series of hearings by the Senate and Assembly will be completed May 29 in San Francisco.

Background of the milk industry in California is interesting and a short resume may make the California issue more understandable.

In 1930, just before the depression, milk fat was bringing 60 cents a pound with surplus milk bringing 32-36 cents a pound. Everyone was satisfied. There was no regulation of any kind. Milk was retailing at 11 cents a quart with about two-thirds of the output delivered directly to homes.

During the depression, milk was one of the items hardest hit. Heavy advertising and price cutting were used to counter the milk-buying slump. Then came milk wars. Milk sold for 5-6 cents a quart. Some stores sold it for as little as one cent a quart. Some producers dumped milk by the roadsides and bloodshed was feared. The State Director of Agriculture was directed to restore a degree of normalcy. A representative of the director got a group of 11 producers to formulate a stabilization plan and milk prices leveled off at 11 cents a quart.

In 1933 Congress passed the Agricultural Adjustment Act to provide enforcement authority. In 1935 the Young Act authorized milk prices to relate to higher production costs.

In 1937 the Desmond Act authorized the state to establish minimum prices for milk. The director's guidelines were that prices of milk were to be adequate but not more than adequate to maintain enough distributors to provide adequate service to consumers.

In 1955 the Department of Food and Agriculture began marketwide costing surveys which relate production cost to pricing. This is currently handled by the Bureau of Milk Stabilization.

The Bureau administers the California Milk Stabilization Law, which establishes minimum wholesale and retail prices. The state does not set ceiling prices. Producers, distributors and retailers may charge as much as the market will bear.

Consumers, generally, see no need for ceilings since state and federal agencies keep the price of milk unconscionably high.

The above material may not make the price of milk any more palatable but those who read it will know some of the reasons why the price tag is rising.

And most disturbing to some is that their extra dimes and quarters they pay at the milk counter went to help re-elect a president.

Citizen petitions, transit company concessions and the plight of one man trying to operate an independent bus service all played a part in last week's Spring Valley community meeting.

Held at SV Elementary School the meeting was scheduled to air community sentiment on bus service in Spring Valley, but there were several surprises for the small group of citizens who attended.

J. Warren Mooers from the San Diego Transit Corporation presented a surprise proposal which would substantially increase Spring Valley transit service.

The new service would extend the present Route S. The proposed change of route would leave College Grove Shopping Center every half hour and proceed to the SV Shopping Center at Sweetwater and Jamacha blvd. The bus would then leave the SV Center hourly, and proceed to Jamacha and Campo rds. for service to the trailer parks.

The extension would go into effect in late October or early November, pending the availability of funds. Mooers said that there should be no problem obtaining funds because "we want to bring service to that area".

Mooers concluded his presentation by showing slides of the fixed skyway rapid transit of a proposal on the November ballot.

This system is part of the second speaker was Freddie Allen, proprietor of Economy Bus Lines, an independent operation. Allen spoke from the floor and was not a scheduled speaker.

Allen described the difficulties his operation is having. He said that both the San Diego Transit Corporation and the Board of Supervisors were encroaching on his territory, without paying him.

Allen was advised to seek legal counsel by the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce members present, to aid him with his legal and financial difficulties.

The final speaker Monday evening was Jim Ward, a retired SV citizen, who has organized mobilehome citizens into collecting more than 1700 petition signatures for expanded transit service.

Ward was also responsible for bringing the lack of transportation problems of mobilehome owners to the attention of the Board of Supervisors.

Mooers said that it was due chiefly to Ward's efforts that SD Transit became aware of the need to extend service in the Spring Valley area.

LG Man Runs For Sheriff

Lemon Grove resident, Stan McDade, is opposing Sheriff John Duffy as a write-in candidate in the June 4th primary. McDade said "the United States Constitution" is his platform.

As sheriff he would be "what they elected me to be—their watchdog over their constitutional rights". His campaign is being publicized by the Committee for Better County Government in Fallbrook.

The group's secretary is Thomas Metzger. He warned, "Citizens, it's up to you to elect Stan McDade for Sheriff on June 4th. If this announcement does not appear in your local paper it is probably because the entrenched powers do not want you to have a Sheriff who will protect your rights."

VFW Dance Brings 'Osiris' Back Again

"Osiris" will return to play at the VFW teen dance tomorrow night from 7 to 11 p.m. at the VFW lounge, 2885 Imperial ave. in Lemon Grove.

Members of the VFW and other community groups sponsor the dance held for teenagers between the ages of 14 and 17. Local clubs, businesses and organizations sponsor the dances. A recent sponsor of the program is the Lemon Grove Woman's Club.

Hot dogs and soda pop are served at the dance. This dance will mark the first anniversary of the program and a completely equipped aquarium will be given as a door prize to mark the occasion.

Admission to the dance is by ticket only. Tickets may be picked up at the VFW lounge prior to the dance. No tickets will be issued at the door. There are a limited number of tickets.

Natural History Museum

The botany and geology of the desert canyons of Baja California will be studied on an overnight camping and nature study trip to Tajo Canyon in the Sierra Juarez Mountains Saturday and Sunday, on a nature walk led by the Natural History Museum.

Leaders will be Dr. Reid Moran, Curator of Botany at the Museum, Dr. Richard Phillips, professor at the University of San Diego, and Dick Schwenkmeier, professor at Mesa College. Personal transportation must be used. Vehicles should be of a type that can navigate unpaved mountain roads. The fee for the two day trip is $10 per person.

Four LG Kiwanis Will Attend Denver Confab

Mike Carlen, president of the Lemon Grove Kiwanis will attend the group's International Convention in Denver June 23rd-26th.

Joining Carlen will be incoming president Elmer Ring-eisen. Alternate delegates from Lemon Grove include the Reverend Mike Maxson and Duke Duggan.

The 1974-75 Kiwanis theme will be announced at the Convention. Carlen said that each year Kiwanis chooses a theme that represents the emphasis of their activities.

This year's theme announced at the last convention was "Youth" and "Share Your Life with the Elderly". The Lemon Grove Club according to Carlen carried out the theme with their donations to the Key Club, Boy Scouts and Bobby Soxers of Lemon Grove.

Carlen said that "almost 99 per cent of the charitable funds raised by Kiwanis" with their apple sale and pancake breakfast "goes back into the Lemon Grove community".

Other proposed activities at the convention are various workshops and a vote by members to amend the rules and regulations of the organization. 23,000-25,000 delegates are expected to attend.

An Armed Services Salute Ball will be held Saturday at Holiday Inn sponsored by San Diego area Kiwanis, Carlen said. The L.G. Club will sponsor two military couples at the Ball.

The Ball is held annually to honor members of all branches of the service. Each Club sponsors a certain number of military men and their dates at the dance.

Board of Supervisors Give Financial Boost for LG Park

The six-acre park for Lemon Grove that voters rejected in March will become a reality, after all, thanks to a vote of confidence from the County Board of Supervisors.

The Board voted last week to supplement funds from Human Resources Development to purchase the park site at Mt. Vernon and Berry sts.

Lake said that Jerry Mann, from the Board of Supervisors, told a group from the Chamber of the decision to purchase the land, at a meeting Thursday morning.

Included in that group were: Jim Dorman, Bob Russell, Helen Myers and Lake. The park is tentatively called Mt. Vernon Park. No definite development plans have been announced yet, Lake said.

The Chamber Board of Directors will also vote today on whether to request the County to do an incorporation feasibility study.

Lake said that the County will now do an economic study if requested to determine whether it is feasible for an area to incorporate. This type of study was done recently for the community of Santee.

If the Chamber should give its green light, then the County will come into Lemon Grove and survey area businesses. Lake said that the report "makes no recommendations—just reports facts."

The Chamber Board meets in the Chamber office at 12:30 today.

Topless, Bottomless, Tuneless after Burglary

The waitresses at the Naughty Spot, 7268 Broadway in Lemon Grove may be a little nudger than usual and have to hum their own accompaniment as the result of a burglary last week.

The Lemon Grove Sheriff's Office reported that an unknown burglar or burglars broke into the night spot and stole 10 costumes and 25 long-playing records, two speakers, a socket set, a hammer and screwdriver. The burglar also attempted to break into a cigarette machine, a soft drink machine and several cabinets. The loss was estimated at $376.

Dorman Finds 'Guesswork' of School Budget Frustrating

James Dorman, Lemon Grove School District Governing Board chairman, described the difficulties the Board will face with the preliminary school budget it received recently to review.

Dorman said "the whole system is wrong, it's one big guess work". He said that frustrations arose from trying to determine expenditures without a clear idea of income.

As an example he cited the teachers' wage proposal. The proposed cost of living increase the budget has outlined is 3 1/2 per cent; the teachers have requested 11.25 per cent.

Dorman said that he personally "is in favor of giving teachers at least a cost of living increase if we could do that." The rate of inflation which determines cost of living is presently 9.4 in the San Diego area.

However, Dorman said that attempting to guarantee the teacher's group any amount of increase is difficult because there are so many uncertain areas within the budget.

One of these is the amount of money per pupil (ADA) the District will receive. If the enrollment continues to decline or the District makes even a slight miscalculation the amount of money will drop. So, too, certain amounts

Ormandy Conducts Orchestra in San Diego

The San Diego Symphony Orchestra, Peter Eros, Music Director, will present the Philadelphia Orchestra with Eugene Ormandy conducting at the Civic Theatre on May 30 at 8 p.m.

The program will begin with the Haydn Symphony No. 83 in G major, followed by Respighi's "The Fountains of Rome" and Ravel's Suite No. 2 from "Daphnis and Chloe". The program will conclude with Brahms' Symphony No. 2 in D major, Op. 73.

In the past three decades Maestro Ormandy and his orchestra have become a national institution, traveling more miles, performing before more people, and making and selling more records than any other conductor-orchestra team. Last September he opened his 38th season with the orchestra (a record tenure) by taking "The Philadelphia Sound" to Peking.

The Philadelphia Orchestra's historic two-week tour of the People's Republic of China emerged as a political, critical and popular success. The 105 members of the orchestra were the first American musicians to tour China. "I've never known any other tour to be so happy from A to Z," Ormandy said. "It was an unforgettable tour for every member of the orchestra and myself."

Eugene Ormandy's rise to the top has been a combination of talent, hard work and loyalty to one institution. Arriving in New York penniless from his native Hungary in 1921, he took a job as a violinist in an orchestra that played between features in a movie theatre. One day the conductor failed to show, and Ormandy was asked to conduct a Tchaikovsky symphony on 15 minutes' notice. He did it from memory. At 74 he shows no signs of losing his touch.

There are a limited number of tickets available for the Philadelphia Orchestra's only performance in the San Diego area. Tickets are priced at $8.75, $7.50, $6 and $5.

IRS and UCSD Offer Advanced Tax Class

University of California Extension in cooperation with the U.S. Internal Revenue Service will present its second annual course for income tax preparers.

The 30-hour course, entitled "Fundamentals of Tax Preparations," is aimed at helping established practitioners and newcomers become more skillful in handling the problems involved in preparing federal tax returns for individuals and small businesses.

Instructors selected from the IRS staff will conduct the course, stressing standard and special deductions and the proper way to present them on tax returns. Tax audit appeals will be the subject of a special lecture.

It will be offered at 28 locations throughout the state. In La Jolla it begins June 22 at UCSD. Class meetings will be held in room 213 of the Applied Physics and Mathematics Building on the Muir Campus, Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Ending date is July 27. In the Brawley/El Centro area, the course will start June 8 at Imperial Valley College. Class meetings will be held in room 806 on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., ending July 20.

The registration fee is $60, and the course is acceptable toward meeting the continuing education requirements of the State Board of Accountancy.

Further information may be obtained by calling the UCSD Extension registration office: 453-2000, extension 2061.

S. Stephan Wins Helix Music Scholarship

Helix High School recently held its 23rd Annual Band and Orchestra Award Banquet to honor its musicians.

Climaxing the evening was the announcement of Sheila Stephan as recipient of this year's Senior Scholarship.

The Grand Music Award went to Ken Ernest for his excellence on the tuba. Two Outstanding Band Musicians went to Rick Costa and Cindy Hutton.

Gary Zuckerman won the Outstanding Senior Award and Band Spirit and Attitude Award. Gary is Drum Major of the Highland Marching Band.

Other band awards were Outstanding Junior, Greg Lusitana; Outstanding Sophomore, Robert Fortenberry; Outstanding Freshman, Kathleen Jeckle and Jim White.

The Outstanding Band Section was the Trombones. First violin section received the Outstanding Orchestra Section Award. The Outstanding Orchestra Member Award went to Cleo Cannizzaro, first chair cellist.

The Outstanding String Musician and the Outstanding Non-String Musician Awards went to Jeanne Rosenburger and Greg Lusitana, respectively.

Greg Lusitana was announced as drum major for the 1974-1975 marching season. Also announced were positions for Captain and Co-Captain of the Banner Core. Marlene Heath will be Captain and Marianne Lee will be Co-Captain for the 1974-1975 marching season.

Five band members received $25 to go toward Summer Music Camp. The money for the Senior Scholarship and the Music Camp Scholarships was raised during the recent Pop's Concert.

The banquet was held at the Elks Lodge in El Cajon.

Letters to the Editor No Sympathy For Big Oil

Dear Editor:
I, too, enjoy your editorials, and I would be a bit less than honest if I implied that I agree with you on all issues. I read with interest your editorial duel with Herb Ketell (May 9) regarding the oil companies and free enterprise. I find myself more in agreement with you.

Let's not confuse American free enterprise with international cartel. Major oil companies are no longer red white and blue free enterprise—they are international monopolies in total league with the Arabian Oil Sheikhs. The economic plight of the service station dealer is a prototype of economic servitude.

I suspect Mr. J. Paul Getty speaks with an English accent without the slightest trace of a Texas drawl.

Let's compare the implications of the Hearst tragedy and the foolish, yet understandable attempt of Pattie's parents to cooperate with her kidnappers through massive food distribution to Mr. Get-Away's callous refusal to even negotiate with his grandson's abductors.

It wasn't too long ago that I could have written Herb's (Ketell) letter, but after Watergate, the energy crisis, inflation and the bureaucracy of "Regional" government, I feel myself looking for less tarnished ideals. Price controls went off at midnight April 30th—a total fiasco. The very next day U. S. Steel announced an immediate 5.7% price increase with another to come the new year.

High Profits

Sounded modest until a couple of evenings ago I was shocked to hear a news report on t.v. revealing that U. S. Steel's profits for last year were up in excess of 100% over the year before. The reporter quoted a U. S. Steel executive to the effect that the company's profits would have been even greater had it not been for constraints of price controls. I find myself rather unsympathetic with the sad plight of U. S. Steel—in fact, I am sorely tempted to resort to the idiom of the "tapes" to express my true feelings.

Ah, yes, the longshoremen struck May 1st to recover part of the wage increase they lost through price controls which denied them part of the increase over the guideline. I have always been in a management capacity and have sat on the "other" side of the labor negotiation table. Yet I find myself rationalizing that labor has been much more reasonable than business during our national agonizing over inflation.

What about the plight of retired people trying to live on fixed incomes? Ironically we are paying almost double for our gasoline the price of which was dramatically increased during the purported period of price controls.

Assessed Values Rise

What about the price of housing? Do you think young couples will ever be able to economically aspire to owning their own little home on a little plot of land to provide a place for their children to play and for the "old man" to do a bit of week-end gardening? I just got the new valuation on our place from the county assessor. It is now valued at almost twice what it was originally sold for in 1960. I was persuaded to protest until a neighbor advised me that a house in our neighborhood was sold recently for more than the new appraisal.

Editor, I confess that my hard line concepts have been shaken by it all—Where does it stop? Perhaps the upcoming bicentennial of the founding of our republic will inspire a revival of the morality and basic fundamentals on which our nation was founded.

If so, perhaps we can again talk about free enterprise with the awe and reverence expressed by Herb Ketell in his impassioned defense of that lovable old internationalist J. Paul Getty.

Sincerely, Alex Struthers

Gay 90s Fair This Weekend

The spirit of the gay nineties will be revived Memorial Day weekend during a two-day celebration planned at UCSD.

A carnival, billed as a "Gay Nineties Happening," will be held Friday and Saturday with contests, games, concessions and dances.

Most of the activity will occur on the UCSD Soccer Field between the Revelle and Muir College campuses.

The public is invited to dress in costumes reminiscent of the era and to join UCSD students, faculty and staff in the weekend.

Activity will begin at noon, with a tennis marathon on the Muir courts and three-legged races on the Soccer Field. Operation of booths with traditional carnival games and displays sponsored by UCSD student organizations will also begin on the field.

The carnival booths will be open until 7:30 p.m. Saturday and from 9 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Amusements the first afternoon will include kissing booths, a greased pole for climbing, bicycles built for two, peach-basket basketball and a hammer-bell strength test.

Community Action Confab Hosted by SD

Representatives of Community Action Agencies, Jaycees, state and local government, industry and business, and social action organizations will meet at the San Diego Hilton Hotel, June 12-15, for a conference on local resources for sustaining community action programs.

The national conference entitled, "Solving Tomorrow's Problems Today Through Community Action Partnerships," is being sponsored by the U.S. Jaycees anti-poverty program, Project Mainstream. Project Mainstream is a self-help education program which develops partnerships between Jaycees, government agencies, and other civic minded groups involved in urban affairs and community development.

The Jaycees, concerned over the impending demise of federal monies which support social action programs directed by the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) are hosting the conference to train social action and volunteer organizations in the development and operation of community action projects without dependence on federal aid. The 3½-day event will concentrate on the cultivation of local resources from all sectors of a given community for the support of such programs.

The conference is open to the public. Registration fee is $47 which includes training costs and luncheons. Advance registrations must be postmarked no later than June 5. Send check payable to: TOGETHER, Inc., National Consultant for Project Mainstream, Box 3933, Tulsa, Oklahoma 74152; or contact the San Diego Jaycees.

San Miguel Needs Books for Library

San Miguel Elementary School is having a book drive to fill its library shelves, May 28th-31st. The school is requesting that anyone drop books for the kindergarten through 6th grade level at the school.

The school is also interested in educational records, National Geographic, dictionaries or Zoonooz magazines.

This Week's RECIPE

"Barbecue" brings to mind three things, steak, hot dogs and hamburgers, but this week we offer a delicious alternative. A zesty chuck roast dish that you put over the coals and forget while you relax. This dish can add variety on camping trips and picnics, too.

Chuck Roast Barbecue

1 (3.5 lb.) beef chuck roast
1 tablespoon salt
1 sliced large onion
5 peeled potatoes
10 peeled carrots
Barbecue Sauce (see below)
Rub beef with salt. Brown on grill over medium coals 15 minutes per side. Place on large sheet of heavy aluminum foil. Top with onion. Place potatoes and carrots around sides. Cover with Barbecue Sauce. Wrap tightly in foil. Grill over low coals two hours turning several times. Makes 6 servings.

Barbecue Sauce:
Combine 1/4 cup cooking oil, 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder, 1/2 cup catsup, 1/4 cup steak sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon brown sugar and two tablespoons wine vinegar.

This dish goes well with a mixed green salad and french rolls.

UCSD Conducts June

Nutrition Seminar

Two leading authorities on nutrition will conduct the UCSD Extension short course "Nutrition Updated" June 8.

They are Roslyn B. Alfin-Slater, Ph.D., and Derrick B. Jelliffe, M.D., co-authors of the column Science, Food and Health, which appears each Sunday in the Los Angeles Times Home magazine.

Purpose of the half-day program is to clear up confusion on such issues as Vitamin E and heart disease, and use vs. abuse of this controversial vitamin, and to discuss other current nutrition questions in the light of recent research.

Dr. Alfin-Slater, a professor of nutrition at UCLA, and Dr. Jelliffe, professor of pediatrics and public health at UCLA's School of Public Health, will also cover: the continuing need for calcium, essentials of a "good diet," labeling and the consumer, prevention of malnutrition in early childhood, and prevention of food-borne diseases.

Enrollment for the course is open to any interested person. A registration fee of $9 includes the cost of refreshments. The meeting place is Room 2100 of the Basic Science Building, UCSD, School of Medicine, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Registrations will be accepted in advance by the Extension office or at the door that Saturday morning.

Number of Drivers Zoom Past 55 mph

California Highway Patrolmen will arrest 100,000 speeders this month, virtually triple the number cited in April last year, Commissioner Walter Pundinski said.

The steep increase results from March-April speed studies which show that 70 percent of vehicles are exceeding the 55 mph maximum limit on rural freeways and from 30 to 45 percent on the San Diego urban freeways.

Pundinski said that "speed enforcement is approaching the saturation point, based on the number of men we can put on the road at any given time. Violation percentages indicate we could arrest 100,000 per day if we had enough men and equipment."

The Commissioner said "speed enforcement will continue at this peak level until evidence shows that violations are headed down. We will keep the pressure on until motorists comply voluntarily. The need to conserve energy still exists, and as long as the law is on the books it will be enforced."

CHP officers are arresting an average of 3,623 speeders per day in April, compared to 2,700 on March, 3,100 in February and 1,500 in early January. Last year, the daily average was 1,300.

OFFICERS — Mrs. Clyde West (left) turned over the gavel to Mrs. Christine Bentley who will serve as chairman of the Vogue section of the Lemon Grove Woman's Club for the 1974-75 year. The installation ceremony was held at the Club House on April 20th. Mrs. Walter Shimp, president of the LG Woman's Club acted as installing officer. Elected to serve with Mrs. Bentley were: Mrs. Jack Weinberg, Mrs. Richard Wallingford, Mrs. Chef Sauer and Mrs. Orville Smith.

Careful Contract Reading Saves Dollars and Worry

Today when we buy a house, rent an apartment, or sign up for a credit card or even sign up for dance lessons, a contract is required. The California Department of Consumer Affairs passes along some tips that may save you grief and dollars later when reading and signing contracts.

— If something in a contract does not apply to you cross it out. If the seller won't accept it you don't have to sign it. Be wary of a statement by the seller who says, "Pay no attention to that because we never enforce it."

— If a blank space appears on the contract draw a circle with a line through it in the blank spaces before you sign to prohibit anyone from adding something at a later date. Once you attach your signature it is an exact copy.

— Don't depend on oral promises — insist all promises and agreements be written into the contract before signing.

Susan Freeman Chosen For 4-H State Revue

Monte Vista senior Susan Freeman was one of three top 4-H members crowned "Cream of the Crop" at the annual 4-H Dress Revue held in Escondido May 11.

Susan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Freeman of Jamul is a member of the Chaparral 4-H Club. The three winners will represent San Diego County at the Youth State Leadership Conference Dress Revue in Santa Barbara in August.

The County 4-H Dress Revue is a highlighting event each year for those 4-H members enrolled in clothing and textiles who wish to participate beyond their project work. Participants are classified according to age and experience in sewing and are judged on total appearance of the garment as it relates to the entire spectrum of material selection, style, color, fabric, construction, investment, and use.

Walk for Mankind Aids Medical Program

The San Diego Walk for Mankind on June 1, will provide funds for Project Concern's health care programs to continue and expand. Twenty-two hospitals and clinics are presently in operation in Hong Kong, Ethiopia, Guatemala, Bali, South Vietnam, Mexico and the United States.

The domestic programs serve the Navajo Indians of New Mexico and the Appalachian people of central Tennessee.

When Project Concern first came to Pickett County, Tennessee, an Appalachian area of 14,000 people, there had not been one resident doctor in two counties and not a dentist in 67 years. Project Concern health care personnel began a medical, dental and nutritional assistance program there.

Although Pickett County was third from the bottom in terms of per capita income in Tennessee, of 93 counties Pickett was one of three experiencing the most improvement in terms of health, according to a state survey.

The Walk For Mankind, Project Concern's largest fund-raising effort, is held annually in 200 cities throughout the country. The communities of El Cajon, Poway, Escondido and Coronado have recently participated in Walks For Mankind. The June 1 Walk will begin in Presidio Park, continue on to Balboa Park and then back to Presidio.

Persons interested in walking or sponsoring a walker should call 566-4933.

'Bus Stop' Next At Off Broadway

Adrienne Barbeau, co-star of the top rated TV series, "Maude," has been signed to play the leading role in William Inge's classic tale "Bus Stop," Don Wortman and Tom Hartzog's next offering at San Diego's Off Broadway Theatre. Ms. Barbeau will play the role made famous by the Marilyn Monroe portrayal... the sexy little "chantoozy" Cherie.

Co-starring in "Bus Stop" will be John Calvin (Bo Deker), familiar to many as the free-loading son-in-law on the Paul Lynde Show last season. Additional members of the cast includes Paul Lucather (Carl), Leslie Dalton (Elma), Johnny La Motta (Will) who was last seen here as Polite in "Irma La Douce," and Mark Gardner (Virgil).

Showtimes are Tuesday through Thursday at 8:30 and Sunday at 7:30 ($5 & $6), Friday at 8:30 and Saturday at 9:30 ($6.75 & $7.75), matinees Saturday at 6 and Sunday at 2 ($4 & $5).

"Bus Stop" is scheduled to open Wednesday through June 23, with a low-price preview Tuesday.

Sun, Water and Wildlife Can All Spoil Vacation Fun

State Health Director William Mayer, M.D. recently advised vacationers to take precautions against summer hazards, ranging from such nuisances as sunburn and poison oak to some very serious diseases.

"The worst diseases are transmitted through contact with animals or their living areas," said Mayer. "Rabies is present in most counties in skunks, bats, foxes, bobcats, coyotes, raccoons and opossums. It is also found occasionally in dogs, cats, cows and horses."

Although bubonic plague is rare, Mayer pointed out that it may be carried by chipmunks, ground squirrels and other rodents and their fleas. He also cited Rocky Mountain spotted fever and tularemia, which can be contracted from animals, ticks or biting flies. "Wild animals, no matter how appealing or friendly, must not be taken home as pets," Mayer warned. "They should never be handled or fed."

Mayer advised vacationers to place tents and sleeping bags away from animal burrows, and to avoid areas infested with mosquitoes. Keep campsites clean, he suggested. Be careful when entering vacant cabins in wilderness areas. Unused structures often serve as nesting places for rodents. Apply insect repellent to socks and trouser cuffs. Mayer recommended that persons finding dead animals notify forest rangers, health officials or law enforcement officers. Contact with dead animals can be dangerous if they are diseased, Mayer stated.

"We're not trying to spoil anybody's summer fun," Mayer said, "but we don't want you to spoil it for yourself."

Panel Ponders Urban Transit

Television commentator, Harold Keen, will moderate a panel discussion on the San Diego urban transportation situation, at the 1st Unitarian Church auditorium in San Diego, June 1st at 8 p.m.

Joining Keen on the panel will be: Jack Walsh, County Board of Supervisors; Richard Rypinski, Comprehensive Planning Organization; Eric Rath, professor of transportation UCSD; Dan Franklin, director of California Public Interest Research Group and Tom Prior of the San Diego Transit Corporation.

The program is being sponsored by the Unitarian Church Urban Transportation group.

The program is entitled, "Transportation or Stagnation: San Diego's Future".

There is no admission charge for the program. A question and answer period and refreshments will follow the panel.

Answers to hundreds of crises and related unemployment questions asked by citizens, businesses, consumer groups and government agencies in regard to specific consumer areas will be spelled out May 29-31 at the first annual Western Regional Consumer Conference at the U. S. Grant Hotel in San Diego.

Sponsored by the National Consumer Information Center in Washington, D.C., and coordinated by the Western Regional committee in San Diego, the conference theme is "The Consumer Credibility Gap — Three Perspectives: Government, Business, Community."

More than 5,000 consumers from Arizona, California, Hawaii, Nevada, Oregon and Washington are expected to attend.

The three-day conference is open to everyone and consists of workshops, keynote addresses and resolutions around such areas as housing, health insurance, legislation, principles of buying, fuel

LG Men Recognized For PR Contribution

Lemon Grove resident Roger Conlee of 3222 Lemon Ln. and Larry Serra of 7312 Pearson, played key roles in the Public Relations Club of San Diego's annual awards competition.

Conlee, public relations director of Phillips-Ramsey, Inc., was one of 10 award winners, and Serra, communications specialist with Solar Division of International Harvester, was chairman of the awards program.

Conlee's award was for 1973's best short-term public relations program, a statewide nutrition symposium for the Dairy Council of California. Serra headed a committee which supervised the competition and arranged for judging by a panel of Los Angeles public relations professionals.

Cdr. William D. Collins of Naval Air Force, Pacific, and William J. Seaton of Sea World were named co-winners of the club's Public Relations Professional of the Year Award.

'Dr.' Kelley Runs For County Clerk

Dr. John Kelley, a candidate for County Clerk, promises that he will donate one-third of his salary to charity if he is elected. This is to show he is not "just another money-hungry" politician, he says.

He also promises that he will not lobby for an increase in salary, nor urge that an increase be given during his tenure of office.

He is presently engaged in Bible and general public relations work.

His doctorate is an honorary one—one he acquired from Hawthorne college near Los Angeles.

He has previously been nominated for State Senator and ran for Mayor of San Diego in 1971 but withdrew to support the present Mayor.

Whitley Advances In Jamul Post

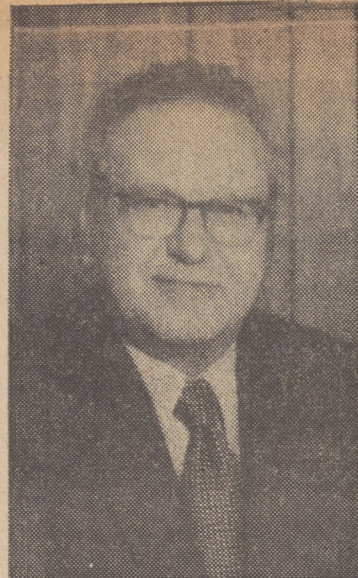

Bill Whitley, a former Lemon Grove school teacher, has been named administrator of auxiliary services for the Jamul-Las Flores Union School District.

His new position becomes effective June 30. He is presently principal of the Las Flores elementary and junior high school in Jamul.

In Lemon Grove, Whitley was active in the California Teachers Assn. and the Lemon Grove District Teachers Assn. for the latter group he served as president in other offices on the executive board. Additionally, he served as chairman for five consecutive terms on the LGTA salary and evaluation committee.

He has been active in the S.D. School Administrator's organization and has served on the board of "Angels Unaware" in El Cajon.

Whitley lives in Jamul.

Harley Bloom

Bloom Cites Record for Re-Election

County Recorder Harley F. Bloom is basing his re-election campaign on his record as County Recorder since 1971 and his work experience in the Recorder's office since 1960.

Prior to being elected to his post from among five candidates, in 1970, Bloom, had served in various supervisory and administrative positions there. He claims that he has completed substantial improvements in the retrieval system at a time when the workload was increasing more than 40 per cent during the last three years.

Additionally, in 1972 he moved the Recorder's office to its present location at 1222 First ave.—a job that took much time-consuming studying and planning.

He says that his office is now one of the most progressive in the nation by which the public has access to the records.

What's Happening in The Political Arena

The June 4 primary election is approaching its climax. Endorsements and opposition positions are streaming from every campaigner's typewriter.

Here are a few communications that crossed the editor's desk recently.

Unruh Supports 5

Former Assembly Speaker Jess M. Unruh announced his support for Proposition 5, the rapid transit amendment. Unruh has long supported a partial diversion of gas tax funds for construction of a rapid transit.

Unruh said that "the truth is, there is more than enough trust fund money available to maintain and improve our highway system... existing revenues will be diverted from low priority highway projects to high priority transit projects."

Clean Air

The Clean Air Council of San Diego also endorsed Proposition 5, and A. Prop. A is the San Diego companion measure which would implement the terms of Prop. 5.

Leonard Thomas, president of the Clean Air Council said, "The C.A.C. endorses both Propositions 5 and A because they are the first step toward combating air and noise pollution."

Kehoe Endorsed

State Senator John Stull and Assemblyman William Craven recently endorsed John Kehoe for the Republican nomination for State Treasurer.

Kehoe resigned as state consumer affairs director to run for the state Treasurer's office. He has also served on Governor Ronald Reagan's staff as Legislative Secretary and Educational Consultant.

Veneman OK'd by Times

The Los Angeles Times in its May 12th edition endorsed the candidacy of John Veneman, a Republican candidate for the office of lieutenant governor.

The Times called Veneman the best qualified candidate in either party for the office.

Cathy Wants Guidelines

Cathy O'Neill, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State, has called for a top level meeting among the political parties of California to establish guidelines for conduct.

She suggested two possible guidelines for the meetings. The first would ban office holders from using tax dollars for campaigns. The second would establish a code of ethics for campaign conduct.

Sheriff's Men OK Stull

Senator John Stull (Republican, 38th District) has received a re-election endorsement from the San Diego County Deputy Sheriff's Association.

Stull is completing the term of Clair Burgener, who was elected to the Congress in 1972.

Blood Pressure Tests Aids All

Entire families... even those with members as young as five years old... are urged to participate in Operation Heart Alert, June 1-2, by Dr. Bruce Prenner, a resident in pediatrics at the University of California at San Diego, and chairman of the OHA School Age Committee.

"Heart attack and strokes are occurring more frequently in young adults, and these conditions begin at an early life, with high blood pressure, or hypertension as we in the medical profession refer to the disease."

Operation Heart Alert is conducted by the San Diego County Heart Association, and co-sponsored by the San Diego County Medical Society, the School of Medicine of the University of California at San Diego, and the CIBA Pharmaceutical Company.

"There is no cure for high blood pressure, but, with proper treatment, it can be controlled," said Dr. Prenner. "If left untreated, hypertension can lead not only to heart attack and stroke, but to kidney trouble and blindness, too."

'200th' Committee Urges Plan Action

The San Diego Regional Bicentennial Committee has urged mayors and city councils of the county's 13 cities, and the county supervisors, to take stock of Bicentennial planning to assure that governmental units are providing adequate assistance.

The check was urged by chairman Rear Adm. (USN Ret.) Edward E. Grimm.

"There is little more than a year left to do advance planning," Grimm said. "Some communities may be chagrined when the 200th birthday of their country comes and they have not lit even the smallest candle. Good programming cannot be left totally to volunteers — they need official encouragement, and perhaps official help."

More Women for CHP

Senator Lawrence E. Walsh (Democrat, Los Angeles) recently introduced a bill, SB 1859, which requires the California Highway Patrol (CHP) to hire women for traffic law enforcement work.

The bill, which has already passed the Senate, will also permit the State Personnel Board to create a special employment classification for such women.

Walsh said the measure has the support of Walter Pudiniski, Chief of the CHP.

Mills Bill Calls For School Bus Overtime

Senate President James R. Mills (D-San Diego) introduced legislation Monday that calls for the use of school buses to transport government employees to and from work.

The bill would allow a school district to provide transportation for employees of any state, federal or local government agency during those hours when the buses were not being used to transport children.

The legislation was developed by the El Centro Public Schools to solve transportation problems for employees of the Naval Air Facility there.

Concert On Green Slated

Reservations are now being accepted for season tickets for the Rancho Bernardo Arts Series "Symphony on the Green Summer Concert Series."

The outdoor pop concert program, which attracted over 25,000 patrons to three concerts last year, has been expanded to include an additional performance this summer.

The Symphony on the Green, featuring the San Diego Symphony Orchestra, will be conducted by Peter Eros, Music Director and Conductor of the San Diego Symphony Orchestra on July 13; Charles Ketcham, Assistant Conductor of the Orchestra on July 27; Academy Award winning conductor, John Green on August 3, and international famous maestro Andre Kestelanez on August 24.

The Saturday evening concerts will be held on the golf course driving range at the Inn at Rancho Bernardo, at the junction of Bernardo Oaks drive and Greens East road.

The concerts are slated to begin at 8 p.m., and the grounds will be open for those who would like to bring picnic suppers at 5 p.m.

Chair seating, and blanket seating, with blanket patrons providing their own blankets, will be available. For safety's sake, no backrests, chairs or lawn furniture of any kind will be permitted in the blanket area.

Season tickets may be reserved at: The Symphony on the Green Office, 16770 West Bernardo drive, San Diego, Calif. 92127, or phone 487-7580.

The price for season tickets (all four concerts) is: Chair seats—$9, Adult Blanket—$5, and students 17 and under blanket—$2.

The price for individual concert tickets is: Chair seats—$3.50, Adult Blanket—$2.50, and students 17 and under blanket—$1. Please make checks payable to "The Symphony on the Green."

The Rancho Bernardo Arts Series, sponsored by the Cultural Commission of the Rancho Bernardo Town Council, includes various cultural events throughout the year.

Rancho Bernardo, located just 25 miles north of downtown San Diego on U.S. 395 (Int. State 15), is a development of Avco Community Developers, Inc., developers of master-planned residential communities, new towns and moderately priced homes.

Brown Backs Proposition 5

County Supervisor Dick Brown, who is also chairman of the State Transportation Board announced support for Proposition 5 on the June 4 primary ballot.

Proposition 5 will allow a portion of state gas taxes to be used by local communities for construction of rapid transit systems.

"We have reached the point where we have to build transportation systems to meet the needs of all people," Brown, a San Diego County supervisor, said.

Proposition 5, Brown explained, will provide a substantial revenue base with which to maintain and strengthen the state's excellent highway system.

"Fears about insufficient funds to repair streets and roads are totally unfounded. Needed highways will continue to be built, however, some low priority freeway projects may be slowed in order to use these funds for higher priority transit needs," Brown added.

Yes on Water

for lower taxes and lower water rates

Water must be brought from Northern California to San Diego County just to maintain our present population. Metropolitan Water District facilities are being built to bring this water here. The only question remaining is "How will these essential facilities be financed?" The correct answer is: revenue bonds, as authorized by Proposition W.

Why? Because revenue bonds will spread the cost of water facilities over an extended period of time — as long as 50 years. This means future water users will help pay the cost of construction. With the cost spread over a broader base, you will pay less.

What's more, these revenue bonds can be secured only by income from water sales; property taxes cannot be committed for this purpose. Were W to fail, property taxes could be increased to cover construction costs. Passage of Proposition W will prevent this from happening, keeping the District's current property taxes down.

W means double value: lower water rates and lower property taxes for users of Metropolitan Water District water than will be possible should this important proposition fail.

We will all pay less for water in the future if we all vote "yes" on W this election day.

Join these Californians in support of Proposition W.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

The Cincinnati Reds come into town tonight to commence hostilities with the crowd that Kroc built at the Stadium the town bought. The appearance of the Reds marks the first opportunity to view the fortunes (sorry about that word) of the Padres this year over last.

There are two former Padre players of note toiling for the Cincinnati's. Clay "The Kid" Kirby and Fred "The Flipper" Norman. Both are stoppers, capable of shutting off enemy bats and turning a losing trend into the start of a winning streak.

Kirby, a tall whippish lad who will be called "Kid" when he's 70, has a lean, mean fast ball, a sharp slider and a killer's instinct. When he is on, he is very, very on and could blow you down with a no-hitter. He almost did that against the Mets of New York back in July in 1970. Kid had a no hitter going for eight innings only to be lifted for a pinch hitter by (then) manager Preston Gomez because the Padres were losing 1-0.

His trade to the Reds represents the positive approach Parde Prexy El. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi has taken with the club this year. As valuable a property as Kirby is, Buzzie made the deal to strengthen the Padre attack.

Bobby Tolan, a bonafide major league .300 hitter, came over to San Diego from the Reds for the strong armed Kirby. It was a value for a value trade. It was good baseball, good business.

The Norman trade wasn't. His trade must have been the low point in all of Bavasi's baseball career. He was sold because the club needed money. Norman went for cash.

"That's the only deal I was ever sorry about," remembered Bavasi during an after-game session with a group of sports writers in the not long ago. "It was the only time in my life I ever let a player of his caliber go for money. But we had salaries, commitments and the draft coming up. What could I do?"

And that is the difference Kroc makes. Ray Kroc writes checks for whatever millions (said to be between 10 and 12) the club costs and told Bavasi to build him a winner.

The Club is on a solid financial basis backed by all the hamburger in the world and no longer has to sell pitchers by the pound. Ray Kroc, of course, is better known by his financial name, Mr. McDonald.

But all the hamburgers in the world and a Kroc full of money can't wipe away what the past was. And it goes on display in a four game series beginning tonight. It might be a good idea to visit San Diego stadium over the weekend and record, for your own memory, the past and future of the team that represents our town.

Two former Padres on the visiting club, one a trade made in desperation, the other trade made in hope. It's a good thought to remember as we wait for the Padres to cinch up and make their move for the pennant.

Now if we can only find someone who has pitching and needs money.

HATS APLENTY: San Diego Padres infielder Derrel Thomas helps Tim and Tom Conery display the official Padre souvenir batting helmets which will be given away free to the

Mayon Easy Victor Over Bangkok's Ranked Sithkoom

When he was 9 years old he was run over by a Mexican ice cream truck and his legs 139%, took a TKO over Felix and left arm were broken. No Jasso, 140, in the 4th round one would have dreamed that when Jasso was cut badly in the human wreckage would the mouth.

Friday night Miguel Mayon, the classy little lightweight, scored a five round knockout over Thailand's champion Malthong Sithkoom. It was Mayon's fourth straight kayo at Mickey Davies' Coliseum.

Mayon pummeled his adversary with such fury that referee Fred Hayes called the fight at 15 seconds of the 5th of a scheduled 10 rounder.

In his dressing room Sithkoom's handlers were furious. Since they spoke no English it was not easy to ascertain the reason for their anger. With much posturing and headshaking this reporter believes that they were saying the fight should not have been called until their fighter was completely unconscious — a matter that should have taken only a couple more minutes with Mayon.

In Mayon's dressing room, trainer Danny Millsap was jubilant. "He'll never be able to turn over his right hand like a classic boxer. He doesn't carry a knockout punch. But he punches people. I just tell him if it takes 100 punches to knock the guy out, throw them. If it takes 200, or 300, go out there and throw them." Mayon goes to San Francisco June 8 to fight no. 5 ranked lightweight Ray Luny in a rematch of a disputed draw in April.

McGarvey is a newcomer but he has savvy enough to acquire the aid of the 84-year old Baron Heinrich Frederick Wilhelm von Stumme as his advisor. The Baron is a colorful gent who is known widely in fighting circles.

Officially, McGarvey is managed by motion picture stuntman Sonny Shields. McGarvey is riding the crest of 24 straight wins—16 by KO's. Olivares, a seasoned veteran, has a 33-7-2 record and is a hard puncher. He has already gone 30 tough rounds with Art Hafey.

Jim Hitt Back at the Wheel for Cajon Card

Quiet man Jim Hitt returns to action Saturday night at Cajon Speedway to resume his quest of the super stock car championship.

The 37-year old Lemon Grove garage owner's performance in the beautifully prepared Mach 1 Mustang owned by Carl Atkinson has been the talk of the pits.

The talk and Hitt's efforts were subsided last week, however, when the hard-charging driver was suspended for one feature because of a "black flag violation."

He was "flagged" for excessive oil smoke. Hitt said the smoke "came from a valve gasket leak which allowed oil on the header." It was not leaking oil on the track and it was not dangerous to the engine," he said.

Because of Hitt's burning desire to be competitive, it was easy to understand his reluctance to be stopped by a black flag. And, if history serves correctly, he is not alone in this sudden failing.

Pro Football Camp For 9-18 Youngsters

Nine professional football players offering youngsters individual training at their positions will be the highlight of two weekend camps in June.

San Diego Charger wide receiver Gary Garrison and kicking specialist Dennis Partee are producing the camp at U.S.I.U. June 15-16 and 22-23. Joining Partee and Garrison in the S.D. Federal S&L sponsored camps will be line-backer Bob Babich of the Cleveland Browns, offensive linemen Terry Owens and Russ Washington, quarterback Jesse Freitas, running back Cid Edwards, defensive back Bobby Howard and defensive lineman Pete Lazetich, all with the Chargers.

Application blanks for the camp are available at all San Diego Federal Offices throughout the County. Cost will be $35 which includes a hot lunch the first day, insurance, a special shirt, and video taping at 8.

The first camp will be primarily for boys 9-14 and the second for those in the 15-18 age group. The first day of each camp runs 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and the Sundays will be 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. with check-in a half hour earlier.

The instructional camp involves no pads or contact work but is designed for teaching techniques.

Racing is conducted every Saturday night on the three-eighths of a mile banked oval at Cajon Speedway, starting special shirt, and video taping at 8.

Economical? Yes! But don't think Ford's hot-selling Courier isn't plenty gutsy, too. Courier's extra-husky frame, for example, features box-section side rails anchored by seven crossmembers. The roomy 74.5 in. x 62.2 in. box is all steel, all welded. Upfront, Courier rides on an independent suspension with big coil springs and a stabilizer bar. Rear springs are long, wide . . . with six leaves. There are double acting shocks, front and rear.

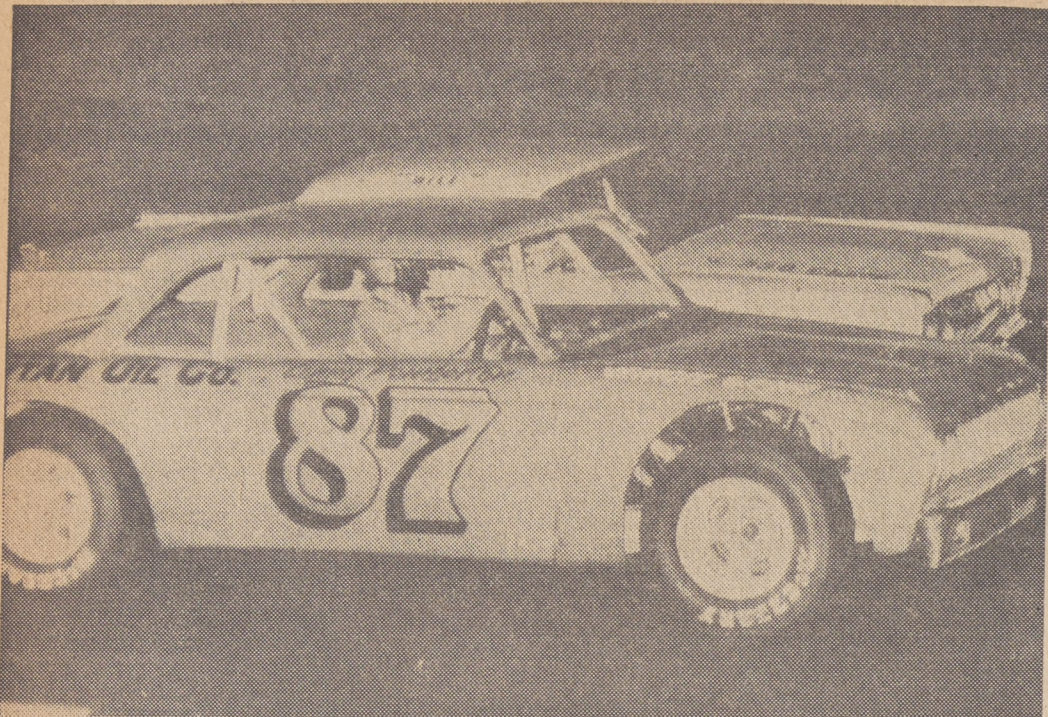

And Courier is as comfortable as it is rugged. A roomy cab has excellent visibility and insulated quiet. Courier's wheelbase is a long 104.3 inches to help smooth the ride. There's even an optional dress-up package . . . stripes, wheel covers, mirror, rear step, the works . . . for special sports appeal. Three-Day Race Program Set at Agua Caliente

TIJUANA—Thoroughbreds will be racing three days this weekend at Agua Caliente with the addition of a full card on Memorial Day, plus the usual Saturday and Sunday programs.

Jack P. Meyers, director of racing at the new facility in Tijuana, pointed out that with the added card on Memorial Day a total of 36 races will be held during the three-day period. "This is the equivalent of four racing days at most tracks," Meyers said, "and will not only provide an additional day of racing for the fans but also allow the Caliente horsemen to have an opportunity for added income."

Saturday's feature race will be The Mexicali, an allowance for 4-year-old horses and upward over a distance of one mile and one-sixteenth.

Last year, some 12,000 smokers didn't think when they were in the forest.

They dropped their lit cigarettes instead of crushing them dead out.

And so 12,000 forest fires started unnecessarily. And about 60 million trees died.

So if you smoke in the forest, put the life out of your cigarette. No dead cigarette ever killed a tree.

Padres Head Scout Brings Home Winners

Bob Fontaine

Every year about this time a curious breed of man emerges to be seen hanging around high school baseball diamonds, college parks and the sandlot games across the country.

Some are grizzled veterans chewing cigars while others have a Madison Avenue look. Some look just like you and me. Their names vary, too. Some go by bird dog, others are called scouts but only a select few carry the title of Director of Player Personnel.

Such a man is Bob Fontaine, the Director of Player Personnel for the San Diego

Padres. Now in his sixth season with the Padres, he is the one to whom falls the task of yearly weeding through all the prospects and coming up with the players with which to build a winner.

The obvious question is what is looked for in a player. What are the desired qualities which prompt a ball club to say "This is the player we want."

"Our first step is to assess the physical tools of the player in question," explained Fontaine. "Specifically, I mean those departments we can help polish to near perfection."

"Basically, there are five categories. First is running speed which can be used to full advantage either offensively or defensively. Second is a strong arm, one which is capable of holding runners from taking an extra base or throwing a runner out in crucial situations.

"Thirdly," continued the Padre player boss, "is sheer power at the plate. The ability to hit the long ball and break up a game with a single swing. Then comes hitting potential, the ability to consistently make contact with the ball, and, finally, defensive ability, being able to beat another club with good play."

Needless to say, there are few players today who could grade out highly in all five categories. "A player must be strong in all of these areas to be considered a complete ball player, but to be a good major league prospect you must have at least two or three," related Fontaine. "A player can make it to the majors with running speed and power, but the fellows who will consistently beat you are those all-around players."

Of course, the system is a little different in evaluating a pitcher. In fact, it's a lot simpler. "The main things in looking at a young pitcher are the strength of his arm, the movement of the ball and whether he has a good delivery with a free wrist," Fontaine commented.

"A pitcher needs a good fastball, but we are much more concerned with these three basics than the variety of pitches a young man has because these can be taught quite easily." Oddly enough, though, the real key to a player's success oftentimes does not rest in his physical tools.

"Once we've screened a player's physical talents then we must try to decode his personal make-up and this is the real key," confided the Padre chief.

"A player must be many things. He must be able to get along with others, be coachable, have the will to win and withstand pressure situations among other things. You can't say enough about the importance of the personal make-up of a player," Fontaine declared. "Every year there are many cases where players with better make-up succeed over those with better physical talent."

"Find player with an excellent personal make-up who can grade high in the physical talent categories and you'll have a super star."

This year, the Tuborg 400 will be preceded on the same day by the California 100 sportsman car race. The California 100 starts at 11 a.m. June 9 and the Tuborg 400 follows at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

All three matadors participated in the Golden Sword Corrida Sept. 9, and while Ruiz Loredro drew an unpropitious bull, Martinez and Leal each won two ears.

Martinez, 29, of Monterrey, Juana.

35th Year of Racing

Del Mar Race Purses To Total $3¼ Million

The opening of Del Mar's track since the late 30's. The Del Mar Futurity, which mark the beginning of the richest summer session in the history of the seaside race track, with 25 stakes events worth $705,000 in added-money on the line during the 43-day meeting. Total purse and stakes distribution is expected to exceed $3,200,000.

Director of Racing Louis Eilken has announced a renovated stakes schedule that links Sunday racing with many of Del Mar's most important races and presents a fresh program for the two-year-old division.

Eilken and Racing Secretary Peter W. Tunney also unveiled the new $30,000-added Eddie Read Handicap, a nine-furlong turf event for three-year-olds and up that honors the memory of the late director of public relations, associated with the track since the late 30's.

The Futurity is scheduled for its traditional place on the closing day card, Sept. 11, and the Debuteante will be run on Labor Day, Sept. 2.

The other four divisional titles will be decided on Sunday afternoons, with the $100,000 Del Mar Invitational Handicap scheduled for the final Sunday program, Sept. 8. The prestigious event will be contested at a mile and three eighths on the turf for three-year-olds and up.

The Grossmont High School District recently voted to curtail all extracurricular funds until their financial problem is solved.

Because of the District's financial difficulties, the Grossmont Coaches Association has voted to suspend basketball and football workouts, pending the result of the June 4 primary election.

The suspension was necessary, according to the Association president, Jim Symington.

Bobby Soxer Mello Hits Like Hank Aaron

By Paul Stark

Leslie Mello of Little Eden Produce highlighted last week's action in the Spring Valley Bobby Sox League as she hit a grand slam home run. It was her second over-the-fence homer this year. The fence is 180 feet away.

Miss Mello's home run was off Sandy Chapman. Lomita Bowl won 7-5, however. Andrea Maddox, Beth Kelly and Dorlue Jones have hit home runs over the fence in the 9 year history of the league.

Monday, Julie Lancaster pitched Bancroft Speedy to a 11-5 win over Delp Plastering. Jenny Stallard led the 12 hit attack.

Kim Warner and Suzanne Renshaw combined on a three hitter, struck out 12 to pitch the S.V. Woman's Club to an 8-5 win over Medical Printing.

On Wednesday, Little Eden broke open a 3-1 game with four runs to beat Ranchero Painting 12-7.

Tina Canela and Michele Wolkoff combined on a three hitter to pitch Tom's Choice Meats to a 16-2 win over Sportland.

Friday, Suzanne Trim snapped a three game losing streak by pitching Tire World to a 7-5 win over San Diego Linen.

Jean's Dance Studio beat the S.V. Shopping Center 17-16.

Saturday, Delp Plastering beat Ranchero Painting 11-8. Jenny Stallard fanned 16 to pitch Speedy to a 9-1 win over the N.L. Fire Dept. for their sixth straight win.

Lomita Bowl, 5-5, beat Little Eden 7-5.

S. D. Linen, with a three run triple by Anita Dowell, beat Tire World 10-8.

S. V. Woman's Club beat Willenburgh Realty 19-10.

Jean's Dance Studio ran their record to 7-3 with a 20-5 win over Medical Printing.

Tina Canela and Michele Wolkoff fanned seven to pitch Tom's Meats 17-2 over the S.V. Shop. Center.

Microwave ovens are said by manufacturers to use less energy than conventional methods of cooking.

Trio of Stars On Bullfight Card

Ace matador Manolo Martinez heads the cartel for Sunday in the big Memorial Day weekend bullfight at the downtown arena, El Toreo de Tijuana.

Beginning at 4 p.m., Martinez, Curro Leal, and Arturo Ruiz Loredro will each face two bulls of the popular Jose Julian Llaguno Ranch.

All three matadors participated in the Golden Sword Corrida Sept. 9, and while Ruiz Loredro drew an unpropitious bull, Martinez and Leal each won two ears.

who has never made a pass while kneeling, was superb day with both hands and killed outstandingly, Leal, 20, of Mexico City, who works extensively on his knees, was briefer but also killed well.

A group of judges voted the Golden Sword Trophy to Martinez. The fans cheered for Leal, and he walked out with the award.

Martinez, considered by many critics and fans to be the world's top torero, won two tails and seven ears from nine bulls last summer at Tijuana.

His innovations and operations have been advantageous to the public and profitable to the county, he said.

He cut costly storage space by using a less costly, reduced-size microfilm.

He combined grantor and grantee indexes involving a monthly merge for current year plus a 4-year merge of indexes back to 1970—a tremendous time saver.

He instituted reel and image number index by which microfilm readers may now automatically locate records—an other time saver.

Programming is under way to protect older records with microfilm in a form compatible with his modern retrieval system.

He operates his office profitably, he says. Last year the cost of the Recorder's office was 32 per cent of $1,358,534 it received from fees for services the office provides. Documentary transfer taxes in county areas provided an additional $1,563,356 and the 13 cities provided another $815,728.

Bloom's name appears as the incumbent on the June 4 ballot.

BANKAMERICARD and MASTERCARGE

LUAU—Candy Gertz, a 5th grade student at Vista La Mesa Elementary, demonstrates the Hawaiian hula to her classmates at the luau the students put on for parents, teachers and administrators, Friday.

The students, with the help of their teacher, Miss Jo Wittrock and their student teachers, Miss Sheila Repp and Miss Diane Keairn of San Diego State University, prepared roast pork in banana leaves and Hawaiian chicken. Also included on the menu was poi, dried plums, coconut pudding, fortune cookies and banana, coconut and pineapple cakes. The girls also did a bamboo stick dance. The students used lummy sticks while singing "Nani Wale Na Holo" (Lovely Holo Trees). The students lit the two realistic chemical volcanoes they had made and with smoking volcanoes burning in the background, they sang their two final songs, "8 Islands" and "Aloha-Oe."

Reunion Attracts 155 Alumni To Grossmont's 40th Event

LA MESA—A record turnout of 155 alumni will attend the 40th anniversary reunion of the Grossmont High School class of '34 at the Bronze Room Saturday.

The event begins with a reacquaintance hour at 6:30 p.m., dinner at 8 p.m., a 30-minute program at 9 p.m., and dancing until 1 p.m., to Bill Green's group playing hits of the '30s.

Twelve classes will be represented—1927, 1929, 1930 through 1938, and 1940. The largest group will be the '34 June graduates, numbering 42 of their original 101.

Honored guests will be former Grossmont high teachers from the '30s. Expected to attend are Mrs. Merle Donahue, Mrs. Eva Quicksall, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Gilbert Judy and Coach Jack Mashin, whose '34 football team won the league title.

A number of the attendees will travel some distance. Orland Huffman, retired Air Force colonel, will come from Dallas, Ralph Stewart from Littleton, Colo., Dr. Robert Herriek from Portland, Mar. the de Guchi from Chicago, Lindy Burns from Reno, and the Susan Mukai Uchida from Ogden.

Griffs Try for Title In CCC Track & Field

Doug Baldwin, Gary Close, has won at the Southern Cal level. He took the 1973 triple jump with an effort of 47-7. Hallmon was a second place finisher at So. Cal as he went 14.5 in the 120 high hurdles.

The other two state meet spots were filled by distance men. Close finished third in the three mile at 14:19.5 and Wilson was fourth in the mile at 4:16.

Grossmont placed seventh in So. Cal. competition with 31 points as Fullerton College won with 65 markers.

Injuries Hurt Aztecs' Cal Relay Chances

Injuries may limit San Diego State's entries in Saturday's California Relays in Modesto.

San Diego State track coach Dick Hill had planned to enter his mile and 440-yard relay teams in the annual track fest along with top individuals Steve Williams, Harold Williams and Garry Greene, but injuries may limit the Aztec field.

Steve Williams is slated to meet Ivory Crockett in the 100-yard dash in Modesto, but Williams has a slight thigh problem and his status is in question. If Williams can run, he will put his best mark of 9.1 in the 100 on the line against Crockett's 9.0. Crockett ran the 9.0 century two weeks ago in Tennessee. Also entered in the 100 will be Don Quarrie, Harold Williams, Reggie Jones of Tennessee and Chris Garpenborg of Texas (El Paso). Garpenborg won the 60-yard dash in the San Diego Indoor Games earlier this season.

Steve Williams injured himself last Saturday in the PCAA meet in Fresno. Steve felt a slight tinge in his leg on a pass to Keith Denson in the 440-yard relay, but still managed to win the 100 in 9.4 about an hour later. The leg, however, forced Steve to scratch from the 220-yard dash finals. The weather in Fresno may have a lot to do with the tightening of Steve's muscle as the temperature was in the 40's with 30 mile an hour winds.

Harold Williams is healthy and will definitely run in Modesto. Harold finished second to Steve in the PCAA 100 at 9.7 and won the 220 in 21.2.

Greene will go in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles in Modesto. In Fresno he successfully defended his PCAA 440 IH crown, running 52.4. He also was second in a photo finish in the 120-yard high hurdles.

S. Bay Track Books Fri.-Mon. Events

A pair of major automobile racing events highlight the Memorial Day weekend racing at the South Bay Park Speedway in Chula Vista.

Friday evening the richest oval track auto racing event in San Diego in more than 25 years takes place, when a 100-lap NASCAR Winston Western Grand National Stock Car race is held. Drivers from all parts of the West will be after $7,525 in posted awards.

Heading the field will be defending NASCAR champion Jack McCoy of Modesto in a 1973 Dodge, and former champion and Riverside 500 winner Ray Elder of Caruthers in a 74 Dodge.

A strong field of San Diego area drivers will be on hand for the night's racing, including last year's NASCAR "Rookie of the Year" Richard White of Escondido (71 Ford); sports stars and San Diego radio personalities will join Ford; George Behlman of local amateurs in a Celebrity; Pro-Am at 6:30 p.m. The event will benefit the Special Olympic Fund, a sports program for retarded children, and a top money prize of $300 will go to the amateur member of the winning celeb-pro-em team.

Among the sports and radio notables bowling will be the football Cardinals' Chuck Detwiler and Don Shy, Jets line-backer Bill Ferguson, Chargers end Deacon Jones, Kansas City Kings forward Don Kojis, and KFMB radio's Mike Wolfe, Bobby Rich, and Clark Anthony. Pro bowlers competing will be San Diego's PCB champions Lee Taylor, Don Russell, and Chuck Moran.

PBA tour winners Barry Asher and Jay Robinson, and the PCB's 1972 Rookie of the Year Ken Nishimoto also will appear.

The Open's Junior Pro-Am games are scheduled for noon, 2 and 4 p.m. Saturday. The Adult Pro-Am matches begin at 9 p.m.

Traffic Statistics Improving Study Shows

An increase in drunk driving arrests by the California Highway Patrol was accompanied by a decrease in accidents where driving while intoxicated was a primary cause, it was reported recently.

Drunk driving arrests increased 10.6 per cent to 32,117 for the first three months of this year compared to 29,047 a year ago.

Accidents where driving while intoxicated was a primary cause in areas of Highway Patrol responsibility declined by 8.5 per cent from 3,656 last year to 3,347 this year.

"The decline in such accidents is encouraging," Commissioner Walter Pudinski said. "However, it was a much smaller percentage decline than the decrease in total reportable accidents which dropped 29.7 per cent from 13,022 last year to 9,157 in 1974."

The Commissioner added that traffic fatalities in Patrol areas of responsibility showed even better percentage improvement with fatal accidents dropping 35.9 per cent from 512 to 328 and fatalities decreasing 33.7 per cent from 666 to 398 during the two-month period.

Pudinski said enforcement of the 55 mile per hour speed limit was a principal cause of a 166.5 per cent increase in the total number of arrests which moved up from 444,850 to 518,150.

Dance Concert

other unusual lighting designed by John Baker.

David Brown's work titled "...Isms" is a multi-media piece in which he integrates an animated film and two dinosaurs with narrated accompaniment. In her choreography "Tabled," Cathy Brag focuses on the irritations and small problems that occur in life each day. It is presented realistically with changes in movement quality, music and a set of illuminated boxes that provide light as well as a setting for the dance.

In "Unity Disrupted," Jim Colburn explores the movement quality of Tai Chi as well as those qualities in direct contrast. He uses these qualities to dramatize his theme of harmonious and in-harmonious actions. Colburn studies Tai Chi with Liang Ting-Shuk.

Old radio transcriptions provide the accompaniment for a group choreography "Paleolithic Peacocks." In this work, choreographed and danced by Kathy Milligan, Kathy Miller and Madeleine Holman, three bored and tired barnmaids do their best to perform but their once youthful exuberance has spent itself.

Faculty choreographer Day Power has chosen Rachmaninoff to accompany his more traditional dance titled "When Frozen Rivers Turn Into Floods of Spring." Power and his partner Sandee Schrage, celebrate the arrival of spring through exciting lifts and agile movements.

Other works scheduled for the concert include "Mazy Sage," choreographed and costumed by Joanna Poppolardo; "We Two Form a Multitude," choreographed and danced by Kathleen Miller; "Gypsy Mood," choreographed and danced by Peggy Olson; "Structures in Space," choreographed by faculty member Cheryl Briggs; "Image," choreographed, costumed and danced by Mary Anna Leskiw; "Do Not Fold, Staple, Mutilate or Bend," choreographed and danced by Cathy Bragg and "A Winter Wary Foots Prayer," choreographed by faculty member Pat Argo.

The public is invited to enjoy a dance concert that has become a tradition in the Tost County. General admission is $1.50 with students and children being admitted for $1. Tickets may be purchased at the door each evening during the run of the concert.
